Pierluigi Tolaini's estate performed very well this year, with its flagship wine Picconero, a blend of merlot and cabernet sauvignon with a small amount of petit verdot, reaching our finals. Pierluigi is a singular character who emigrated to Canada as a young man and, after having done a plethora of humble jobs, founded the country's largest private transport company. In 1998, his love for Italy prompted him home to purchase land in Castelnuovo Berardenga, where he established the estate that bears his name. Pierluigi's philosophy foregrounds local varieties, flanked by international grapes, which are well suited to the Chianti zone.

Picconero '07 has a complex nose, with toasty notes interweaving with coffee, liquorice and attractive crisp fruit. The broad palate has a smooth, velvety attack with subtle, well-balanced tannins accompanying a very long, relaxed finish. Al Passo '07, from mainly sangiovese, is also pleasant, with a close-focused nose of cherries, cinnamon and cloves. The plush palate has good attack, with prominent fresh acidity, ensuring a nicely lingering finish.
