Pierluigi Tolaini, who made his fortune as an emigrant in Canada, commenced his winemaking project in 1998 with the purchase of the San Giovanni and Montebello estates, situated at Pianella and Vagliagli. The first wines were made in 2002 and, after adapting its initial approach to the complex Chianti terroir, the cellar has since then been turning out exceptionally well-made products. The list is the result of meticulous care in the vineyard and rigorous work in the cellar. There is no hocus-pocus, just the restrained use of well-calibrated oak, mainly in the form of small casks, and respectful vinification.
